

Stakeholder Consultation 2016

Environment

The Godalming and Farncombe Neighbourhood Plan will guide planning in the locality for the next 15 years. Six teams are helping to prepare the plan. These teams cover: Community & Infrastructure, Economy, Environment, Heritage & Design, Housing, Transport.

The current consultation provides the opportunity for local groups and organisations to contribute to the plan. This survey is specifically about the Environment which includes the allocation and development of green space, the management of water and air quality. Green space is any area, small or large, formal or informal that is not built on. Water comprises all lakes, rivers and streams and how they are managed for wildlife and recreational potential and to alleviate the risk of flooding. Air quality relates to the control of pollution and the promotion of practices that contribute to clean air.

The attached map shows the boundaries of the civil parish of Godalming and Farncombe.

Completing this Survey

Your views are important. They will be considered alongside those of other organisations to form the basis of the Neighbourhood Plan. You are invited to share the following questions with others in your organisation. They are designed to promote discussion and help you explain how environmental issues are relevant to your organisation and how you would like this reflected in the Neighbourhood Plan. While a 'Yes' or 'No' might answer some questions please use the space to provide details you feel are of relevance. You can record your responses by editing and returning this document or in another format of your own choosing. Both corporate and individual responses are welcomed.
