Sight for Surrey to host pan sensory loss event in Godalming supported by Godalming Town Council

24 June 2019, 10.30am-2pm, Masonic Hall, Ockford Road, Godalming GU7 1RQ

Sight for Surrey is running a pan sensory event to help those with a vision and/or hearing impairment. This event is being generously supported by Godalming Town Council.

The event is aimed at anyone interested in accessing support for living with sight or hearing impairments, carers and families as well as health, social care and other relevant professionals. Support services on offer include: social work, benefits advice, training, volunteering, help finding employment, technology and equipment.

The Masonic Hall is fully accessible and British Sign Language interpreters will be available throughout the event.

Bob Hughes, Sight for Surrey's Chief Executive, says "We're greatly looking forward to showcasing our excellent services all in one place. Visitors will have the opportunity to find out what support is available to them and discuss their needs with our specialist teams. Anyone with sight or hearing loss or involved professionally in this field is welcome."
